

The Kenneth J Button Prize

The Kenneth J Button Prize is awarded annually at the International Conference on Infrared and Millimeter Waves and Terahertz Electronics in recognition of outstanding contributions to the Science of the Electromagnetic Spectrum.

The Prize is named after the founder of the Conference and is administered by the Institute of Physics. It consists of a bronze medal, a certificate and a cash prize of £2000.

At each annual meeting of the Conference, a committee of the Conference's International Advisory Committee will consider the nominations that have been submitted to the Institute and will elect the recipient of the Prize and Medal. The closing date for nominations is the same as the deadline for submission of abstracts to the Conference. In 2010 the closing date for nominations is April 23. The Medal and Prize will be presented at the following annual meeting of the Conference. The recipient will normally be invited to give a plenary lecture at that meeting.

Any scientist active in the field of the Conference may make a nomination for the Prize. To make a nomination, the information listed below should be sent, under the heading
