

Nonlinear THz Spectroscopy User Facility at ELI-ALPS

A. Gupta¹, V. Gupta¹, A. Sharma¹, B. Monoszlai¹, P. S. Nugraha^{2,3}, Gy. Polónyi^{2,3}, G. Krizsán^{3,4}, Á. Burián⁴, Sz. Turnári⁴, J. Hebling^{2,3,4}, G. Almási⁴, J. A. Fülöp^{1,3,4}

¹ELI-ALPS, ELI-Hu Nonprofit Ltd., 6720 Szeged, Hungary

²MTA-PTE High-Field Terahertz Research Group, 7624 Pécs, Hungary

³Szentágothai Research Centre, University of Pécs, 7624 Pécs, Hungary

⁴Institute of Physics, University of Pécs, 7624 Pécs, Hungary.

Abstract

A user-accessible compact nonlinear THz spectroscopy facility (NLTSF) is available at ELI-ALPS. It enables to carry out THz pump—THz probe measurements with >0.4 MV/cm peak field strengths in the 0.1-2.5 THz frequency range. THz-induced transient absorption in n-doped Ge was investigated at 300 K and 95 K temperatures.